CLIVE NEWS

A vertible downpour of rain cooled the tense atmosphere on Monday morning early when about two inches of rain fell in about an hour's time.

A very successful picnic was held by the Clive Ladies' Aid at Lakeside Beach on August 14th. The members of the Sunday School were also given a trip to the beach for the afternoon. Tables were spread near the swimming grounds of "Mosses," Ditta, N. Longstreet and Geo. Vanderyl and an abundance of delicious dainties disposed of. The excellent sandy beach and delightful water afforded ample attractions for Soft ball games and bathing. Visitors from Ponoka I.O.O.F. added much to the happiness of the event. After supper the Ponoka brothers challenged Clive hosts to a game of Soft Ball which resulted in a somewhat one-sided victory for Clive who won the game 15 to 2. Then the climax came when huge bonfires were lit, around which the happy picnickers and campers gleefully whiled away the gathering twilight when all "homeward plodded their weary way" tired but happy.

Rev. I. N. Hughson and family who have been guest of Mr. H. Mann and A. J. Haywood at Sylvan Lake during the past week returned to resume his pastoral work on Sunday, Aug. 17th, having spent a most profitable and enjoyable time at Kasota Beach Y.P.S. Camp as well as the outdoor services held at Sylvan Beach for children.

Quite a harvest of Saskatoon berries is being gathered by the citizens of both town and country.

The High School and Public School Staff has now been completed with George Vanderyl again as Principal. Misses Hunt and E. Code are returning to take charge of the Primary and Junior rooms respectively while Miss McKinnon will have charge of the Senior Room.

Miss Phyllis Henn, pianist of the United Church and music teacher, is home for two weeks holiday, and with the other members of the Georgian Singers will give a series of Concerts in Alberta, commencing at Clive, Thursday, Sept. 4th before going to British Columbia.

Howard Jeglum has returned from a prolonged visit to Vancouver and Seattle.

CANADIAN WHEAT AND ITS FUTURE

Sanford Evans of Winnipeg, recognized expert of the Canadian and world grain trade, does not believe that trade has gone to the demerit bow-wow, as present surface indications would lead one to think. In an interview with the Montreal Standard he says: "Canada should make real her vision of herself as the most important wheat exporting country in the world. To do this she should launch a national policy of 'Selling Quality Canadian Wheat,' to the wheat-hungry countries of Europe on a market made measurably unrestricted by conferences initiated by her statesmen."

Mr. Evans' exclusion of Great Britain from his list of prospective purchasers of Canadian wheat is deliberate rather than accidental. He assumes that we shall get British wheat trade if we go the right way about it, but he also draws attention to the fact that British trade alone will by no means solve our future production difficulties, for the reason that Britain at best can use but a portion of the steadily increasing quantity of wheat we shall have available for export every year.

What the Winnipeg expert indicates is that the thing most needed in the programme for disposition of our wheat surpluses is a sense of responsibility. This task he hints should be the work of our statesmen and should be carried on as part of their duty in the conduct of our trade and commerce and external affairs departments at Ottawa. He visions a real need in European countries for Canadian wheat and the policy he offers if adopted at once would go far to offset any possible world market competition in wheat by the Soviet Republic.

There is reason to believe that Premier Bennett is already seized with the importance of utilizing to the fullest extent the machinery of both the government departments referred to above in an effort to create extended markets for Canadian wheat not alone in Europe, but elsewhere. There is no good reason why our foreign trade commissioners should not work as actively in the interests of wheat growers as they do in the interests of manufacturers and others. The following six points are emphasized by Mr. Evans in a summary of his proposed policy.

- 1.—To reduce unit costs to the minimum, by getting the best yield per acre through the use of the best cultural methods and the best seed.
- 2.—To consider the adaptability to our conditions of certain modern experiments in farm organization and mechanization.
- 3.—To keep quality high and improve it.
- 4.—To further exploit the quality by a campaign of education and demonstration in consuming countries.
- 5.—To confer with countries now imposing unreasonable restrictions on consignment of wheat by such means as are within our power hasten their modification, to the end that wheat should again have a fair chance in the world.

- 6.—In the meantime to postpone consideration of the possibility that Canada might be forced to alter its plan of development of wheat acreage.

Study of the first three points will make clear that if the policy is to have effect, there must be forward action taken by wheat growers. In order that we shall be able to compete successfully on world markets growers must maintain high quality product at absolute minimum production cost. To do this we will have to be made of the best known cultural methods, best seed and most modern machinery. There is nothing new in this doctrine though it now is given added emphasis, coming from the mouth of an acknowledged expert. It is recognized as truth by many growers, but will have to be sold to many more before real success is possible.

In this connection it is significant that little educational work has been undertaken by provincial Wheat Pools heads. With all the necessary machinery of a great co-operative organization at hand to make educational propaganda effective within their membership, the executives seem to have been exercising themselves almost exclusively over the task of marketing. Great changes in methods are indicated as essential in the growing of wheat in Western Canada if we are to maintain our premier position in world wheat markets. One would imagine that Wheat Pool heads would regard as a primary duty the task of advertising those changes to the membership and leading the way into them as rapidly as possible.

CIVILIZATION'S OWN SPECIAL WAR

The life of man is not peace but war. The war is often consciously waged with the hope of attaining peace, but more often it is a struggle that seems meaningless to one waging it, and suggests no useful end. This is long as philosophical terms are called dualism. We are not one nature but two, and there is a constant strife within our members between higher and lower natures. Great poets and great moralists have seen this clearly and recorded it in stirring words. Shakespeare and Goethe, St. Paul and St. Augustine stand here on common ground.

All the more interesting then is it to find that Sigmund Freud, the father of psychoanalysis, in his latest book "Civilization and its Discontents," the product of a ripe old age, reaches substantially the same conclusion. Having sounded human nature by methods which may properly be called scientific as against the intuitive judgments of the poet or the moralist, he finds that man's instinctive nature makes for the satisfaction of egoistic ambitions and desires. But civilization has in one form or another, to a greater or lesser degree in different individuals built up in us a second nature of restraints, because civilization cannot exist without surrenders and renouncements on the part of the individuals composing it.

This then the second nature of man, the force which is commonly called conscience. It is a very disturbing force because it sits in judgment on every thought and every desire, so that in fact, there is constant warfare going on in the average individual, and in many who are far above average, between the instinctive and the inculcated natures. This war in the soul, confined sometimes to acute mental struggle but developing often into actual physical degeneration through nervous pressure, is the price of civilization. "The sense of guilt, conscious and unconscious, has become the hall-mark of civilized humanity."

If any reader is inclined to dismiss this curly as being an ancient and established truth, it may be enough to point out that what is striking about it lies, as has been suggested already, in the method of approach by which the conclusion is attained. In an age as vagrant and forlorn as our own in the matter of moral certitudes, it is a remarkable phenomenon, to find science arriving in its own peculiar trail at a destination which men had already reached by other more empiric routes. It is one of several evidences that science has embarked on a great constructive stage in its development.

POSTAL SERVICE AND POLITICS

Immediately after election day reports started coming from Ottawa that many postal officials would lose their jobs as a result of the change of government. It was said that because this was recognized as inevitable, some prospective ministers were seeking to avoid having the postmaster-generalship assigned to them. It was evidently because of the interest that had been aroused in the course that he would pursue that Mr. St. Lawrence, assuming control of the department, promptly issued a statement with regard to his intentions.

Those in the service, who had without reserve conformed to the law, understood their duty in their observance of their impartiality and impartially shown the respect due to the political authorities or their accredited representatives were told that they had nothing to fear. The minister, however, declared that he would make a distinction between all such and those who had constituted themselves "the active agents of their party's conduct of lies and infamous calumnies." Careful enquiry in all instances was promised in order that error and injustice be avoided.

Whatever removals are made their propriety will have to be judged by the information that is given as to the grounds on which action has been taken. Public sentiment is strongly against the adoption of anything approaching the "spoils system" in the administration of the department. To dismiss any of its employees unless it has been shown clearly that they have been guilty of conduct out of keeping with the offices that they hold would be wholly inexcusable.

What is wanted is the placing of this and every other branch of the civil service on such a basis that it will make no difference to their members which party is in power. There has been much progress in that end as a result of the establishment of the civil service commission over twenty years ago and the extension of its functions by the union government in 1918. It is supposed to have cast out all party appointments. But numerous cases were brought to light during the regime that the letter and spirit of the act was being disregarded and the commission overruled. The cases, which received the most notice arose in 1928. The commission selected a war veteran for the postmasterhip at Simcoe, Ont., and though he had been informed by the minister that that body had "absolute control in a position of this kind" another man with party claims was installed.

This led to strong attacks on the postmaster general not only by the parliamentary opposition, but by leading Liberal newspapers, including the Toronto Globe and the Manitoba Free Press. Mr. Bennett held that a great reform had been instituted in putting the act on the statute books of the country and that it was the duty of the government to uphold it and make it more effective. No administration, he declared, would dare to repeal the legislation, the purpose of which was to assure continuity in office so long as employees of the dominion did not of all parties in politics. That being so, to tamper with it was indefensible.

The stand that the Conservative leader then took makes it essential, now that he is at the head of the government, that the commission be allowed to exercise its full authority in the matter of appointments and that these be governed by considerations of merit alone. If these principles are rigidly enforced and it is insisted that postal employees do not engage in party activities, none of them will in the future have any reason for fearing loss of their posts when an change of administration occurs.

Bennett Selects Hon. Irene Paribby For Geneva

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 18.—Canada will be represented at the next meeting of the League of Nations by Sir Robert Borden, Senator Thomas Chapais and Hon. Mrs. Mary Irene Paribby. It was announced here last night. The assembly meets in Geneva early in September and before that there will be a meeting of the council of the league. Canada's representative on the council will be Sir Robert Borden as leader of the Canadian delegation. Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime premier, has long been a staunch advocate of the league. He was one of the original signatories of the League of Nations covenant in 1919 out of which grew the League Assembly and the council.

Senator Chapais who resided in Quebec has won distinction by his historic writings. He is the author of a number of books. He was for some time professor of history in Laval University. He was a minister without portfolio in the Taillon Government in Quebec and leader of the Government in the legislative council back in 1893. He became a Senator in 1919.

Hon. Mrs. Mary Irene Paribby is minister without portfolio in the Alberta Provincial Government. She represents Lacombe in the legislature and was president of the United Farm Women of Alberta for four years. For two years she was a member of the board of governors of Alberta University. In the last two provincial general elections she had been returned as a candidate of the United Farmers of Alberta.

RACIAL REPRESENTATION

The election in a Toronto constituency of Alderman Factor, who is of the Jewish race and religion is regarded with apprehension by the Toronto Telegram. If, it says, he was elected through a race and creed appeal, it was a most risky triumph. "This city has no desire to be split up along lines of either race or creed." It all depends on the kind of appeal. If it were an appeal to racial or religious hatred it would certainly be harmful. But it is not likely—it is not even alleged—that any of Alderman Factor's supporters were actuated by hatred against Christians. No doubt a good many were influenced by a desire to do honor to one of their own race and religion. But we see no harm in that, nor any reason to fear that Christians will retaliate and punish the Jewish electors for thus expressing their racial and religious preferences.

HOW ABOUT DRY CITIES?

The Toronto Globe has been compiling a list of week-end crimes and casualties in an attempt to prove that the Ontario Liquor Control Act is not a success.

But the figures by no means support the Globe's contention. They show a number of drunken automobile drivers, the discovery of an illicit still, the decision of the Kitchen Relief Board to give no assistance to persons who patronize the liquor vendors, and a stabbing affray in which liquor is said to have played a part. This is not a very serious crime list, for a province as large and thickly populated as Ontario. The Globe might well prepare a week-end crime list covering a similar area in the United States where prohibition is in force. We doubt if any part of the dry land to the south of us would compare favorably with Canadian crime statistics.

NOT SO BAD

"Actually there was more business done in Canada in the first six months of 1930 than during the first six months of 1928 and the full year's story should not be so greatly different than 1928." This is a quotation from the Financial Post and the conclusions to be drawn therefrom are encouraging. For 1928 was a peak year in Canadian business only exceeded by the abnormal one of 1929. The lesson of this is that if we were content to compare our business with 1928 as the standard instead of 1929 there would be as much enthusiasm and vitality in the country today as there was in the former year.

As the Post further says, "To go through a period of business depression and still hold most of our gains of several years of unprecedented prosperity is a very satisfactory showing." Indeed it is; in the flux and reflux of commercial battle we have obtained a position of advantage for jumping off in the next advance. Our standards, of course, change with our successes; each gain becomes the yardstick for the future, but there is little reason to feel "psychologically depressed" because events do not always measure up to it. A safer and sounder measurement is that of average over years, and if we adopt that standard we adopt that standard we find that Canada is still on the highroad of great development.

WHO DOES GARLAND REPRESENT?

E. J. Garland, U.F.A., federal member for Bow River, arrived in Edmonton on Wednesday morning and called upon by Mr. Stuchbury, the Alberta Trade Commissioner, and other officials in the city.

When asked if he had any comment to make upon the result of the election, Mr. Garland replied: "Mr. Bennett has a big majority and he cannot invent any alibi. He has to call a special session of parliament, cure unemployment, bring in protection, expand Canada's manufactures, sell Canada's wheat, revive the sheep industry and the dairy industry. Let him go to it!"—E.J.

Evidently from the tone of the above, Mr. Garland does not intend to assist Mr. Bennett in his effort to expand Canada's trade, sell Canada's wheat, revive the sheep industry and the dairy industry.

We were always under the impression that when a man was elected to parliament he was a representative of the citizens of Canada and that no matter who brought forward something for the good of Canada it was his duty to do everything possible to have this measure carried. Mr. Garland evidently intends to let Mr. Bennett "Go to it."

We venture this statement that it will not be for lack of effort on the part of Mr. Bennett and his followers if all Mr. Bennett's splendid program is not fulfilled, in spite of the evident hostility of Mr. Garland and his group.

COMPETITION POSTPONED

In all our computations and estimations of the wheat crop of the world, and the trend in the marketing thereof, there has been one unknown factor—the Russian crop. Because of its unknown proportions—perhaps it would be better said because of the unknown size of Russia's exportable surplus, if any—it has been feared like any other unforeseen magnitude overhauling the market naturally would be feared. Moreover, the published stories of the huge national plans for syndicate farming; the sudden, if infrequent, incursions into the market by the Soviet government organization have tended to act as a deterrent to any rapid advance.

Now, it appears, the full effect of the Soviet five year programme as it will effect the agriculturist, will not be felt on the export grain market for at least three years. The authority for this statement is Thos. D. Campbell, whose enlistment by Soviet government as agricultural consultant caused such a furore at the time. Mr. Campbell, whose home is in Montana, is described as "the world's largest wheat grower" and it is well known that his operations in that state are of considerable magnitude. As he points out, the internal needs of Russia are continuing to expand with her expanding production. He estimates there will be no balance between the two reached until three more crops have been reaped.

There is ample time in that period for the Canadian grain grower to have entrenched himself firmly. If we concede, as we must do in the circumstances, that the battle of wheat primarily rests on the cost of production, then our Canadian growers have a long period in which to readjust themselves to the revolutionary changes which are overtaking the industry of grain growing at a most rapid pace. In three years we shall either have demonstrated that we can produce better and cheaper than other countries, or our industry will have declined because of our inability to do so. In either case the entry of Russia into the export market will not be a catastrophe. Russia no more than any country, can sell below the cost of production as a permanent practice, and, in the second alternative quoted, if we cannot hold our own in the battle of wheat, what matter if an additional competitor appear? It will but hasten the time when our farmers must turn to other crops than wheat.

There is ample warning in the statement of Mr. Campbell that the present intense competition is not at the Zenith. There is ample time for our farmers to attend to the business of whittling away the costs until they shall have reached the very minimum.

BOTH SIDES OF THE CASE

For some years a large factory building in Hamilton, Ontario, has been closed, with barred windows and smokeless stacks. The Canadian Libby-Owens Glass Company, operated this factory once upon a time, when a protective duty was in force sufficiently high to make the manufacture of glass a Canadian possibility.

Came a day when the duty was lowered and with an invasion of Belgian and other foreign-made glass the company closed its Hamilton factory, putting several hundred employees out of work.

Since the return of a Conservative Federal government this company has announced that it will reopen the factory, if it can be assured of high enough protection to make manufacture profitable. It is explained that glass will cost the Canadian user more, but not so much more as to make the price a burden. Five dollars on the value of all the glass used in an ordinary sized bungalow is estimated as the amount of the increase.

It is a matter which will have to be considered from all angles by the government. What strikes the casual observer, however, is that a $5 increase in the cost of the average bungalow (if that is all it will amount to) is hardly to be considered as bringing with it direct employment for hundreds of workers and healthy stimulation for allied industries.

SOVIET THREAT IN NEW FORM

Some months ago Canadians were interested in the announcement that anthracite coal from Russia was being contracted for in Montreal. More recently shipments of Russian pulpwood and manganese to the United States roused the ire of a section of the American people and efforts were made to prevent landing on the ground that the cargoes were the result of convict labor. Monday a special cable told of a fleet of fifty British steamers sailing for Kara Sea and Russian river ports in that vicinity, laden with machinery, foodstuffs and general supplies, their return cargoes to be lumber and railroad ties.

Add to these evidences of trade aggressiveness on the part of the Russian Soviet Republic the oft-repeated threat to the world in general which comes from that country, and it is not surprising that industrialists and economists are paying more and more attention to this great experiment in Communistic endeavor, made possible by the overthrow of Czarism.

One thing seems to be certain with respect to the Soviet threat in international trade. If it is possible for Stalin and his aides to organize Russia efficiently in an industrial way, under the nationalized industry plan
now being followed, the unlimited resources of that country brought into production and manufacture and thrown upon world market will seriously complicate the already involved world economic situation.

It will be extremely difficult, for instance, to prevent purchases of Russian goods and products where quality is right and if the price is so low as to undercut the world market rate.
Immediate reaction to such a state of affairs would be either increased unemployment or acceptance of lower wages and a lower standard of living in all countries buying Soviet products. A prospect unpleasant to contemplate but not at all impossible.
And incidentally, a prospect quite probably contemplated by the leaders of the Soviet Republic as a long distance step in their propaganda programme to overthrow all world governments which they class as "capitalistic."

DELIVING INTO VITAL STATISTIC

Living births in Canada during 1929 gave a rate of 24.6 per thousand of population. This rate compared with 24.5 in 1928, 24.6 in 1927 and 24.8 in 1926. This steady decline in birth rate indicates that despite all prohibitions birth control doctrine is making headway among the people.
It is significant that where ten years ago the subject itself was more or less taboo, today women's organizations in convention deal with it and pass resolutions concerning it, while it forms a subject for lively argument, pro and con, at meetings of great religious bodies.

With the birth rate steadily declining the death rate for the year rose 3 per cent. This is ascribed largely to the epidemic of influenza which was at its peak in January of 1929, there being 7,158 deaths from that cause, as compared with 4,307 in 1928. The death rate from diphtheria for the year was 10 per 100, 000 of population; typhoid 5 per cent, and scarlet fever 4. The lowering death rates of these preventable diseases in Canada is a telling tribute to the efficacy of public health measures and the more general use of preventive and curative serums.

It is suggestive of the changed age in which we are living that diseases of the heart are taking off a constantly increasing number of persons,
the rate last year being 135 per 100, 000 of population. The cancer rate is also increasing, last year being 90 in every 100,000. Tuberculosis, thanks to persistent, intelligent warfare against the White Plague, counted only 79.5 victims in each 100,000 of population, which was very little more than the percentage of violent deaths. Suicides are on the increase steadily, with 834 for the year, as against 761 in 1928.

Hope for the future of the country is to be found in steady increase in marriages each year from 1928,
the total for last year being 77,263.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

Whether there is any difference between constructive and destructive criticism depends wholly on what is purposed to construct. Before one can build or construct, home or state has to be cleared and the clearing—which is destructive—is plainly part of the process of construction.
It is precisely the same in religion, politics, or social life. There is always something wrong or false that must be destroyed. Men's minds often have to be cleared of old notions and superstitions to prepare them for the reception of new truth. The best and finest constructive criticism has many times in the world's history come from destructive—many times radically destructive critics.

As the words are commonly used —and they are great favorites—they really mean that there should be no criticism, except of people, organizations or institutions, that we do not like, that are not ours. Then it does not matter how fiercely destructive it is. On the contrary any criticism—that is criticism at all—of what we like, of what is ours is destructive, and the only way in which it can be criticized constructively is by praising it, such praise being "constructive criticism."

It might be well to retire the phrase, for a time at least. What the world needs, and always has needed, is honest, fair and intelligent criticism, which can never be anything else than constructive in the only sense in which the word is worth preserving in this connection. Literature has for many years suffered for lack of it. Such questions as these are important: Is the critic honest? Is he truth-loving? Does he "know his stuff"? Is he without ulterior motive? If so, he should be listened to with respect.

The last question—is the critic without ulterior motive?—is peculiarly searching. Often the critic, whether in politics, literature or religion, has, though he may not be conscious of it or the motive springing from it —a case to establish, a cause to maintain or a cult or school defend. The trouble with him then is, not that he is either constructive or destructive,
but that he is not fair, that his end is not solely truth. Yet, he may, even though his motive is ulterior, sometimes tell the truth. Criticism is a difficult business, but it is a very important business. Without it the world would go to the dogs and at a greatly accelerated pace.

Happenings

Remember to come to the Memorial Service in the Park on Sunday afternoon and bring your flowers.

Dr. J. N. M. Byers, left last week for a tour of a number of Canadian and American cities. While away he will take a post-graduate course at Mayo's at Rochester, and will attend the British Medical Association Convention at Winnipeg.

—Rimby, Record.

After about six years residence in Rimby, Ontario, Robert Marks, and family left Wednesday for Lacombe where he has been transferred. "Bob's" familiar face will be greatly missed in Rimby, and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Marks wish them "the best" in their new home.

Norman Campbell wishes to announce to his many customers and friends in Lacombe and district that he has severed his connection with the business operated here under his name for the last three years to take charge of the Women's Ready-To-Wear Dept., Johnstone Walker, Ltd., Edmonton.

Mr. Burden wishes to inform the public that there is no truth in the rumor that the White Laundry is removing from Lacombe. It will continue business in the same place on Nanton St. and give guaranteed service as heretofore.

The Annual Memorial Service will be held in the Park on Sunday, 24th inst. at 3 o'clock; conducted by the ministers of the town. The Rev. Jas. Deason will give the address and there will be special music. Wreaths will be placed on the Cenotaph, and afterwards the graves in the cemetery will be decorated. Donations of flowers will be gladly received at the Globe office on the 23rd.

It is to be expected that every person from near and far will make a special effort to attend the Annual Memorial Service at the Last We Forget Park on Sunday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. It is assuredly the duty of everyone to be at the Park on Sunday to perpetuate the memory of those brave boys who gave up their lives in the Great War. Following the service at the park the graves at the cemetery will be decorated.

Before buying your fruit for canning, see Murray. He will save you money.

IN MEMORIAM

Once Saturday Night During June, July and August

BANK ROBBERED IN CALGARY

An unmasked bandit successfully robbed the Elbow Park branch of the Bank of Montreal, and made away with between $6,000 and $8,000, at the point of a gun on Wednesday afternoon at 12:15 o'clock.

H. H. W. Beyerstein, teller, alone in the bank while N. T. Woodward, the manager, went out to bring back lunch for himself and the teller, was accosted by the bandit, who merely told him to hand the money over, a large pile of bills for delivery to the main branch being in the wicket at the time.

The bandit was fair haired, five feet six tall, dressed in a blue suit, blue shirt with neck open. He was 25 or 26 years of age. This description tallies closely with that of the man who wielded the gun in the Midwinter murder on Saturday night.

SHOULD MARRIED WOMEN WORK

The Vancouver City council recently went on record as being opposed to the employment of married women whose husbands are working. Now comes news that a large Kansas City bank is going to fire all its married women workers and return to a pre-war basis of employment. Similar action is being taken by several Toronto firms.

This is no new problem, but many regard it as the biggest factor in the unemployment situation, because of the ousting of thousands of men and their replacement by women, many of whom are married.

Obviously it would be grossly unjust if as the biggest factor in the unemployment situation, because of the ousting of thousands of men and their replacement by women, many of whom are married.

There are other things to be considered besides the economic result. The effect of married women working is not good for home life. A home isn't a home if both husband and wife are away from it all day and every day.

Of course there are jobs that women can do better than men. There are jobs that the women should have. There are also jobs that men are more fitted for and can do so much better than women. And in justice men should be given these jobs to do.

One thing is certain women will not consent to be relegated to the position which they occupied a couple of decades ago, when married women workers were a rarity. At the same time, it seems clear that some sort of equitable balance should be struck.

PRECAUTIONS NEEDED

One of the lesser inescapable evils of unemployment is crime, as we are learning anew. Both petty and grand larceny, the most common type of crime in bad times, are usually the outcome of desperation on the part of those who need and cannot secure work. Manifestations of this kind give rise in turn to much more serious offenses, usually through the force of the circumstances in which they are committed. The robbed bank, the murdered chauffeur, may or may not be instances of this type of crime; may not be the result of a situation wherein there were workers but no work. But they do emphasize the need of extraordinary precautions on the part of both police and public in times such as these.

Mean, brutal crimes such as that which the unfortunate car driver lost his life cannot very well be guarded against unless it be by a system of first reporting to the police authorities when journeys are made to out-of-town points. With the aid of the telephone it should not be very difficult to maintain communication between police here and those representatives of the law at points they will touch. Two crimes of the one kind, of course, in two years do not point the need of any complicated or expensive system, but it should not be beyond the wit of man to organize simply for the protection of taxi-drivers who are called on long distance journeys with unknown men. In any case, if we are to preserve that respect for the law and for security of which we have justifiably boasted up to now the question of trouble, or expense, is not material. Because nothing is more certain than that crime, unpunished, breeds crime.

WHEAT PRODUCTION

Somewhere or other, in every part of the world, in every month of the year, wheat is being harvested and because of this fact the market price is affected. World crop conditions vary and the visible supply rises or falls, so does the price. Here is what might be termed a wheat "calendar" showing harvest months.

January—Argentina, Uruguay, Chile.

February—Upper Egypt and Southern India.

March—Egypt, Tripoli, Morocco and India.

April—Persia, Mesopotamia, Arabia, Asia Minor, Syria, Cyprus and Mexico.

May—Algeria, Tunis, Central and Southern Asia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana.

June—Italy, Spain, Portugal, Turkey, Greece, Southern Russia, North Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, Texas, Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

July—France, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Southern Germany, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Southern England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Oregon.

August—Southern Canada, Russia, the United Kingdom, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Washington.

September—Sweden, Norway, Siberia, Northern Russia, Canada, North Dakota and Montana.

October—Sweden, Norway, Finland, Scotland, Northern Russia, Northern Canada, Alaska.

November—Persia and South Africa.

December—Borneo and Argentina.

Here and There

Successful Canadian exhibitors in the International Grain and Hay Show to be held at Chicago, November 23-December 1, will be awarded liberal bounties in addition to the regular premiums offered in the prize list now being distributed. The provincial governments of Quebec, Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, the Calgary Board of Trade and the Canadian Pacific Railway have also announced offers of special awards for Canadian exhibitors.

That elk are attracted by music seems to be established by the sections of two fine specimens of the animal which stroll out of the bush when dancing begins at the Banff Springs Hotel every evening. Under the ballroom windows they begin to shake their heads and prance, cavort and caper, while the music lasts, not even stopping to eat until the orchestra has ceased playing.

Canadian poultry are rapidly being recognized throughout the world as reaching annually high standards and recently the S.S. Empire of Canada, clearing from Vancouver to China, Japan and the Philippines, carried 60 head of registered white leghorns consigned to Manila to be used in building up the poultry industry of the islands. The birds came from a poultry farm near Vancouver.

Captain R. W. McMurtry, for the past five years marine superintendent of the Canadian Pacific's British Columbia coast steamship service at Vancouver and prior to that a commander with the Canadian Pacific trans-Atlantic fleet, has been gazetted in the London Times of July 24 as captain in the Royal Naval Reserve, promoted from the rank of commander. R.N.R. Captain McMurtry, whose rank is equivalent to the army rank of brigadier-general, is one of the few living Canadians holding such a high position in the R.N.R.

The province of Manitoba last month celebrated its sixtieth birthday. Where 50 years ago the buffalo roamed alone, Manitoban farmers are now pasturing 350,000 horses and 550,000 cattle and the prairie dweller instead of returning to fort or wigwam from his day's work, spends his evenings in his radio-equipped home or motors over good highways to the nearest city.

About a thousand tons of zinc concentrates from Field, B.C., on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, were shipped to Japan recently, this being part of a movement of 1,500 tons monthly from a mine which started five months ago and which ships lead concentrate to California.

Nearly 12,000 extra men are finding employment this summer in the Canadian Pacific Railway program of construction, maintenance and improvement from coast to coast of the Dominion. Program includes laying of branch lines, repairing and renovating of right of way, bridges, tunnels, stations and other buildings. The men in general are recruited as near as possible to the scene of work and are steadily employed until each job is finished.

Popularity for a woman is so often simply a matter of time . . . time to do the gracious little things of life that mean so much in making and keeping friends. For those things the woman who does her own housework finds time, if she is wise, by employing electrical servants to aid her.

No matter how large, no matter how trivial the household task, there is an electric appliance to cut the work in two. And whether a woman does her own cleaning, her own cooking . . . or merely supervises the work of her household . . . she owes it to herself to investigate the possibilities of electricity in her home.

Ask our local representative to call today: you'll be amazed to learn what electricity can do to conserve your time and energy.

Be sure to ask about the combination rate.

CALGARY POWER COMPANY LIMITED

A wide range of modern electrical appliances may be purchased direct from the Calgary Power Company on a small down payment—balance to be paid with your regular monthly light bills.

A. M. CAMPBELL'S

FOULDS-PANBUCKER

August skies smiled down on two happy people, when Arthur Foulds, of Delburne, and Gloria Evelyn Panbucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Panbucker, of Carleton Place, were united in marriage on Thursday morning, August 7th, at St. Luke's Church. The service was solemnized by Rev. W. T. H. Grippes.

The Church was artistically arranged with flowers. Wedding music was rendered by the groom's father, Mr. A. Foulds, and to the strains of "Lohengrin's Wedding March," the bride carrying a beautiful bouquet of pink and white roses, entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Denis Panbucker, who gave her away. She was attractively attired in a French beige, crepe back satin wedding gown, trimmed with French silk lace, and a becoming picture hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Anderson, wearing a sand georgette dress and hat to match, carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The little flower girl was Miss Rosalie Johnson. Mr. Ralph Panbucker was the groomsmen.

The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely mesh bag, and to the best man a wrist watch. The happy couple left on a motor trip to Banff and other parts. On their return they will take up their home in Delburne, where Mr. Foulds is Postmaster.

CENTRE VALLEY W.I.

The August meeting of the Centre Valley W.I. was held at the Chapel School on Saturday, Aug. 2nd, meeting being presided over by Mrs. Fred Ellsworth. Sixteen members were present. An invitation from the Woodale Institute to attend their next meeting was accepted.

Mrs. R. F. Shufeldt was elected a delegate to the Constituency Conference which is to be held at Bentley, on August 21.

Motion was carried that an invitation be extended to Leaside Institute to visit Centre Valley for the September meeting.

Owing to a previous invitation from Woodale Institute, we much regret not being able to attend the Leaside Institute picnic.

A very enjoyable program followed the business meeting. Three papers were read. The first one by Mrs. Kinchloe on Child Welfare and Public Health; another on Agriculture by Mrs. Gannell and thirdly a very interesting and instructive paper on Education and Better Schools by Mrs. O. Simon. The paper by Mrs. Simon was so well received that the president hopes to have it read again at the Constituency Conference. Mrs. Gannell read an invitation from Mr. Reed of the Lacombe Experimental Farm asking the Institute to spend the day at the Farm, lunch to be served under the trees. This was accepted unanimously the day to be Friday the 15th.

The programme was concluded by a recitation by Annie Diggle. A very enjoyable lunch was then served by Mrs. Diggle and Mrs. Whitworth.

CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT STOPS EUROPEAN IMMIGRATION

The statement issued by the new minister of immigration shows that the government is fully alive to the necessity of preventing the unemployment problem from becoming more acute through the arrival in the country of those who are liable to prove a public burden. The movement from the continent of Europe is to be discontinued, except in the case of experienced farmers who have ample means to establish themselves on the land. While no changes in the regulations governing entrance from Britain and the United States are to be made, there will for the time being be no encouragement or solicitation of immigration from those countries.

The minister emphasizes that he and his colleagues, regard the present situation as a temporary one. But so long as it exists it is unquestionably necessary to place the movement to Canada under the strictest control. As the administration itself is undertaking to see that work is done for those already in the dominion who require such assistance, it has a direct interest in avoiding an influx of those who are not able to look after themselves.

To what extent they have been arriving of late has not been exactly determined. But whether the charges of laxness on the part of the authorities were justified or not, it is just taken office intends to do everything in its power to avoid the accentuation of unemployment through fresh immigration. Once the country gets back to normal economic conditions, it will be no longer necessary to continue the rigid restrictions that are now required. But the experience of recent months demonstrates how imperative it is at all times to exercise great care in the admission of newcomers.

EMULATING CHICAGO

Calgary, Aug. 18.—Alberta Provincial Police were searching the district last night for four men who took Ernest Midwinter, taxi driver, for "a ride" on Saturday night at about 11:30 o'clock. Midwinter was found by motorists about midnight lying with his hands and feet bound with hay-baling twine, gagged, robbed and suffering from two revolver shots, one in the abdomen and one in the thigh, near the road a few miles north of DeWinton on the Macleod trail. He is now in hospital in a critical condition.

Midwinter was just able to talk and told the men who found him that he had been attacked and robbed by four passengers he was driving to Okotoks. They left him bound and bleeding in a plowed field a few yards from the road and vanished with his car, he said.

Sgt. R. H. Purdy of the A.P.P. was notified immediately by the motorists who rushed him to Calgary and he, with Detective George Harvey, went to the scene. Midwinter was taken to Holy Cross Hospital where he is being attended.

The lively car in which the four desperadoes made their getaway was found Sunday morning in a farmer's yard about 10 miles northeast of Okotoks, but at the time of going to press no trace of the quartette had been found.

Later—The victim died on Monday.

DR. BARAGER

Manitoba cannot begrudge to Alberta the services of Dr. Barager, nor to Dr. Barager the promotion in his professional field which the move to the Western province signifies. But the province can and does, express gratification that a native son should have won distinction in what is a new and difficult field of medical science.

For 10 years Dr. Barager has been superintendent of the Brandon Mental Hospital. That decade has been synchronized with development of the theory of insanity not as a mysterious visitation but as a disease and as such susceptible to treatment. That theory Dr. Barager has not only preached incessantly in the effort to educate public opinion so that the re-establishment of cured patients would not present the cruelly difficult features which are but slowly being eliminated, the features which have to do with public attitude; but he put into practice in his institution every new light which science afforded. Brandon Mental Hospital now stands in the first class list on the continent, and Dr. Barager is the primary factor in this achievement.

During this time the number seeking treatment in mental hospitals has largely increased, and the Brandon institution has shared in this growing responsibility. Under its superintendent not only was reorganization completed, but under his direction a reception hospital has been instituted and a training school for nurses in mental diseases put into operation.

Dr. Barager takes with him this experience to Alberta, as he takes his further Manitoba background, of early training and of graduation from the provincial University of Arts and Medicine. He will be in general charge of all the governmental machinery concerning mental disease and mental deficiency in Alberta. Directly under his control will be the psychopathic ward which will be opened this autumn in the University Hospital at Edmonton. Thus Dr. Barager will have a widened scope to carry on that research in a field where he has given his strength to help those so greatly in need of help. Alberta will have the first fruits of his talent and his devotion, but he will continue to be counted among the physicians of Canada who are making an especial contribution in the field of medical science and human betterment.

MEN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

An inquest Wednesday afternoon at Innisfail will continue the investigation which was started with the viewing of the body of Paul Koefoed Saturday night. The accident occurred on the Edmonton trail and the victim died before he reached the hospital at Innisfail.

The accident in which Koefoed was killed and Sligo and Hansen injured occurred about seven and a half miles south of Innisfail on the Edmonton highway on Saturday last. The road had been freshly oiled, and tracks in the road showed that the car had skidded down a hill about 70 yards from one side of the road to the other before it had gone into the ditch.

Word from Ottawa indicates that the new Conservative government has already put a real clamp on the immigration business so far as Canada is concerned. The action of the new minister has been both decisive and speedy.
